This is the closest petition that I've seen to which I agree. I think there ought to be a seperate Morse Code Competancy certificate which then grants you the ability to operate on Morse-only band plans. One could still use the code without the certificate on shared phone/data/CW portions, but CW-only would be restricted to those with the certificate. Of course all current licensees with code privilages would automatically be granted the certificate.

--AB9HL